I'm going to tell you how to use the bathroom.

Now I'm going to tell you how to take an English style bath. First, fill the bath with warm water. When you draw the bath curtain, please make sure the ends of the curtain are inside the bath. You can wash yourself with soap in the bath. After you have finished taking a bath, please let all the water out and wipe the bath with a cloth so it will be clean for the next person. Lastly, leave the bathroom door and windows open.

Example 1

Now I'm going to tell you how to use a Japanese bath. First, fill the bath with warm water. Next, wash yourself and shampoo your hair in the washing area. You must not do it inside the bath. When you rinse your body, you can use a basin. After washing yourself, you can enjoy soaking in the bath. Do not let the water out from the bath when you leave it. Keep it for the next person. Lastly, rinse the floor and the equipment before you leave the bathroom.

Example 2

Now I'm going to tell you how to use slippers.

First, take off your shoes and wear slippers when you enter a house.

You must not wear slippers on the tatami floor.

Now I'm going to tell you how to use the futon.

In traditional Japanese houses, the futon is usually put away in the closet.

So first, take the futon out from the closet and spread it out on the tatami floor.

And then, put a sheet on the futon.

Please use the blanket to cover yourself.

In the morning, fold up the futon and put it away in the closet so that you can use the room as a living room.

22 An Anonymous Letter

Last Sunday, I went to the museum with my two friends, Shigeo and Shiro. On the way there, we saw our friend Shingo. We were surprised to see that Shingo was standing up because he was hit by a car and injured last Friday. He said he was all right now and he was going to visit his girlfriend to give her a diamond ring.

After that, we went to the museum. I wanted to see the painting by Sharaku first because it was returned to Japan from America just last month. Shigeo and Shiro went to see the famous ring of an Egyptian king. After I finished looking at the Sharaku painting, I went to the diamond ring display to look for my friends. When I entered the room, the alarm bell rang. Everyone in the room was ordered to open their bags by an angry guard, but the diamond ring was already gone. A man left with the ring. I saw him! It must be hidden in his house now. Yesterday he was talking to a gangster. He was asked to sell it as soon as possible! Go to his house before the diamond is sold!

I think he is very tired.

Stephen and Lisa have been married for five years.
Stephen was very kind at first and he did a lot of housework, but he does almost nothing these days.
He just sits on the sofa with a can of beer in his hand, and watches TV.
Lisa is very angry with him and they haven't spoken to each other at all for a week.

One day, Stephen comes home late. He hasn't eaten supper yet, but he knows he has to go to bed as soon as he can because he has to get up at six tomorrow morning. He is going to meet a very important person at his office early in the morning.

Example 1 I think he will go to sleep early.

Example 2 I think she is still angry with him.

Example 3 I think he wants to ask her to wake him up.

Example 4 I don't think he can wake up before six.

Example 5 I think she will do nothing for him.

I thought he was very tired.

Stephen is too hungry to sleep, so he goes to the kitchen and eats some food. When he goes to bed, he notices a very important problem. He says to himself, "My alarm clock is broken!"

He wants to ask Lisa to wake him up, but he knows she is still angry with him. So he decides to write a note which says, "Lisa, wake me up at six tomorrow morning. I have to go to work early." He puts the note on Lisa's bed.

The next morning, when Stephen gets up, he looks at the clock and cries out. "Oh, no! It's already seven thirty!" Then he finds a piece of paper on his bed. It says, "Wake up, Stephen. It's six o'clock."

Example 1

I thought he would go to sleep early.

Example 2 I thought she was still angry with him.

Example 3 I thought he wanted to ask her to wake him up.

Example 4 I didn't think he could wake up before six.

Japanese Events

On New Year's Day in Japan, we say "Akemashite Omedeto Gozaimasu," when we greet someone. It means, "Let's celebrate the opening of the new year." We go to a shrine and pray for good luck and health in the new year. We eat special food on New Year's Day called "osechi." Children get a lot of money from their parents, grandparents, and relatives. It is called "otoshidama" and children look forward to it every year.

Ohanami

38

Ohanami means "flower viewing" in Japanese. It is the traditional custom of enjoying the beauty of cherry blossoms, sakura. In Japan, cherry blossoms begin to bloom from the middle of March from warmer climates. When they bloom, we go and sit on a sheet under the cherry trees with our families or friends, and spend time together eating, drinking, and viewing the blossoms. Some people camp out in a park to get a good spot. Others enjoy cherry blossoms at night, yozakura. It is amazing when they are illuminated at night time in the park.

Golden Week Holiday

Golden Week is the longest consecutive holiday in Japan. It is normally from April 29th to May 5th. It includes four of Japan's 16 national holidays, Showa no Hi, Kenpo kinenbi, Midori no Hi, and Kodomo no Hi. The word "Golden Week" was first used by movie companies to get people to take advantage of the "golden" opportunity to go see movies. During the holiday, it is crowded everywhere in Japan because so many people visit tourist attractions, go back to their hometowns, travel domestically, or travel overseas.

Obon

Obon is a Buddhist event and a period to remember and honor the ancestors and families who passed away. It is generally taken place between August 13th and 16th. On the first day of Obon, we light chochin, or paper lanterns, in front of our house or the household altar to guide the spirits of the dead to this world. And on the last day, we guide them back to their graves, again with chochin. During Obon, Bon Odori is performed at many festivals. It is one of the Japanese traditional dances that anyone can join. Why don't you join it wearing yukata?

Omatsuri

Omatsuri is a Shinto ritual practiced to give thanks to deities for a good harvest, good health, and the peace of the ancestors. At Omaturi, a small portable shrine called "mikoshi" is carried from its main shrine through the neighboring streets, and some people dance in special costumes called "happi." You can see a lot of stands along the streets offering local food and a chance to play traditional games. Omatsuri is an exciting and nostalgic event for Japanese people.

39

What do you think?

Music

Listening to music is a good way to relax. I often listen to music in my free time. My favorite group is ONE OK ROCK. They are popular all over the world. I like their songs. One of their bestselling albums is "Jinsei Kakete Boku wa" and I like "Be the light" on it. I have never seen them in person, so I would like to go to their concert someday.

Sports

In 2021, under the global pandemic situation, the Olympic Games came true in Tokyo. The athletes looked very happy and proud. I was happy to see that, too. I was disappointed that I couldn't go to watch the games, but I cheered for them with my family in front of the TV. I was excited when the Japanese women's basketball team won the quarterfinal. And they got the silver medal!

Amusement

Kids used to play outdoors, and communicate with each other in the local community. But today, more of them play indoors with video games or some devices. Not only kids, but also adults enjoy the digital amusements. We play games, watch movies at home, and communicate with people around the world on social media. The technology changed our lives. It's cool and exciting, I think.

Information Technology

Information Technology has become an indispensable part of our daily lives. It makes our lives more and more convenient every day, but I'm afraid we will be lazy. We also need to have a sense of morality when we use IT. A few decades ago, there were no smartphones, tablets, or computers. Shouldn't we think about how people lived back then?

Volunteer Work

I belong to a local volunteer group. We show foreign tourists around the town. I want to improve my English by chatting with foreign people. That's why I decided to join that activity. While I'm guiding them, I try to talk to them as much as I can. I learned it's a great way to practice speaking English. Now I'm planning to make a volunteer club at school with my friends.

Aging Problems

In Japan, there are a lot of people who are 65 years old or older. Its ratio is about 30% of the total population. And some of them live by themselves, and they might feel lonely. I think young people like us should support them. For example, we can visit them and have a chat. Also, we can teach them how to use social media. Then they can find new friends or communities. Those elderly people have built the foundation of our society. Let's be kind to them.

Environmental Problems

Greenhouse gases have caused climate change, and some islands are in danger because the sea level is rising. Today, we can easily learn about the environmental problems thanks to the internet. For those problems, we should try to find what we can do in our daily lives. Personally, I have used my own shopping bag instead of plastic bags for five years. Also, I always try to reduce waste. And now I'm interested in renewable energy. In the future, I want to study about it, and save our environment.
